

Announcement

Starting 8 a.m. on 28 Aug 2013 Myanmar will turn the following four border checkpoints with Thailand into gateways.

- (a) Tachileik - Mae Sai
- (b) Myawady - Mae Sot
- (c) Kawthoung - Ranong
- (d) Htee Khee - Punaron

Starting 8 a.m. on 28 Aug 2013, any foreign national holding a valid passport with a valid entry visa issued by Myanmar will be allowed to enter and exit the country through the border checkpoints at Tachileik-Mae Sai, Myawady-Mae Sot, Kawthoung-Ranong and Htee Khee-Punaron.

With the new arrangement, tourists and business travellers who enter from those checkpoints will be allowed to travel anywhere inside Myanmar except the officially restricted areas, the same status as those who fly in via Yangon, Mandalay and Nay Pyi Taw international airports.

Visitors entering via one of those four checkpoints will also be able to use any other checkpoints to exit and re-enter Myanmar, including Myanmar international airports.
